EazySafe Presenter is a suite of multimedia presentations for use by Health & Safety instructors in the delivery of training. There are over 20 different courses available, each of which offers multimedia elements including animations and sound as well as text and still visuals. The text is editable, meaning you can change existing text or add in your own specific text. Furthermore you can insert your company logo or your client's logo on each screen. EazySafe Presenter courses are available to purchase individually, in packs of five or the full suite of twenty courses is also available for purchase. Each course comes with supplementary material, including Course Training Record, Course Evaluation Sheets and a Trainer Guide.

There are more than 20 EazySafe Learner courses available ranging from Manual Handling to Bullying in the Workplace to Working at Heights. These generic courses have been developed by experienced Health & Safety consultants according to latest legislation. Furthermore they are designed with the learner in mind. Courses are extremely user-friendly and visually appealing. Each stage consists of text, typically in bullet form on the left hand side of the screen and animation on the right. All animation is consistent, simple and entertaining. A voiceover option is available which interactively enhances the users learning experience by keeping the training focused and interesting.

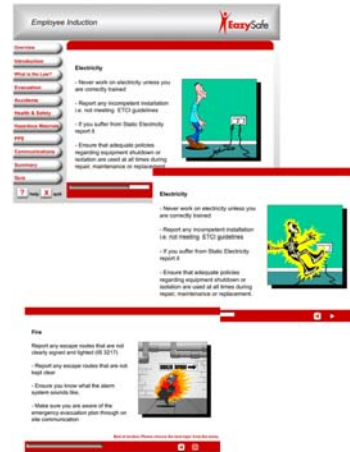

Delivery of EazySafe Learner can be through the Internet, Company Intranet or CD-rom. If you prefer delivery of training via the Internet, the EazySafe Learning Management System is used to track and deliver the courses.

Learning Management System

When users wish to take a training module they log on to the appropriate page on the Internet. After entering a unique username and password, participants work through a detailed study of the topic and advance through the sections at their own pace. Information is given in bullet or short paragraph form and learning is enhanced from the use of animation relating to the particular section.

Each course takes approximately 35-45 minutes to complete. Results and user participation are tracked by EazySafe and accessible by the company administrator at any time. If further training is required our health and safety consultants are on hand to assist you.

EazySafe Tailor products are customised courses designed by EazySafe to precisely meet your requirements. Customised options include:
